Citrus greening found in Puerto Rico
11/29/2009 12:11:37 PM

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has confirmed citrus greening in Puerto Rico. As a result, the USDA’s Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service has expanded the greening quarantine to include the entire commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

To read the complete article, visit Phytosanitary Alert System.

Find this article at:

Check the box to include the list of links referenced in the article.